Regain Control of County Affairs by Winning With Five Candidates to Three for Opponents

In what old timers say was the hottest county election they ever saw in old Madison, the Democrats elected a majority of their ticket to county offices Tuesday. Five Democrats and three Republicans were successful, as shown by the list of winners on this page.

Not until the final precinct was in and the vote counted up on adding machines was the result in any race known to a certainty. Democrats would show remarkable gains in some county precincts and losses in others. In the city all races except that for sheriff, the Democratic vote fell far short of what was expected as shown by the registration, in nearly all of the precincts, but one or two showing a gain. Elmer Deatherage ran well ahead of his ticket in the city, with a majority in the eight city precincts of 321. Other majorities in the city precincts ran thus: Wagers 176; Kennedy 119; Goodloe 175; Samuels 132; Chenault 268; Rogers 251 and Adams 216.

There were several very exciting races out in the country. The Magistrate's race in the Millington district was perhaps the warmest ever known there. Teater, Democratic candidate, is claiming election over Jones, Republican, by a majority of one. He has figures to show that he received 208 to 207. It is understood that Jones is also claiming it.

A total of 11,932 votes was cast in the sheriff's race, the heaviest vote ever known in the county. Both parties had splendid organizations and got their votes to the polls. It was a "hoss race" of the hottest kind. The unofficial vote by precincts as phoned in Tuesday night is shown in another column.

DEMOCRATS WIN IN LAUREL COUNTY

News comes from London that the Democratic-Independent ticket won with all their candidates in the Laurel county election Tuesday. J. S. Stringer won for sheriff by 900 majority; Telford Jones, the famous pitcher of other days, for county clerk by 800; Wm. Broughton for jailer by 100. The Democrats also elected one magistrate and may get two when the full vote is in. Laurel usually goes over 1,000 republican.

Hiram Johnson Wins

Hiram J. Johnson, republican, of London, defeated Carlo Little, of Manchester, Clay county, running as an independent for circuit judge in the 27th judicial district, by an overwhelming majority, according to advices from London Wednesday morning. Johnson carried Laurel by 1,500 majority; Jackson by 1,100 and Clay by 1,000.

Maryland Democratic, Too

New York, Nov. 9.—Two states—Maryland and Kentucky, passed from republican to democratic control as a result of yesterday's elections. In Maryland the entire lower house of the legislature and 13 out of 27 members of the senate were elected with a prospect that other senatorial districts will go democratic.

ELECTION NOTES

News comes from Stanford that the entire democratic ticket in Lincoln county with the exception of Judge T. A. Rice, formerly of this city, seeking reelection as county judge, was elected by safe majorities. Judge Rice was defeated by Sam Bell by about 200 majority. Lincoln went 108 for J. E. Robinson, of Garrard, candidate for the state senate.

The democrats broke through Casey county's rock-ribbed republicanism, according to reports from Liberty Wednesday morning. They were: Oscar Fair elected county judge and Lige Moore elected county attorney. The democratic candidate for sheriff there is also said to have a good chance for victory.

The entire democratic ticket in Fayette county was elected with the election of "Pres" Kimball for circuit judge, who was defeated by Wm. Worthington, republican, by about 500 majority. Two democratic representatives go to the legislature from Fayette.

J. Sherman Porter, well known here where he did newspaper work, was beaten for City Commissioner in Lexington by a big majority. The four Commissioners elected were James J. O'Brien, Carneal Kinkead, Howard McCorkle and Wood G. Dunlap.

John F. Hyman, democrat, Tammany's candidate for re-election as mayor of New York, won over Henry H. Curran, his republican opponent by about 400,000.

Early indications are that J. F. Childers, democrat, has defeated Judge Roscoe Vanover, republican, for circuit judge in the rock-ribbed Pike and Letcher counties republican district.

Tom Rhea's candidates were defeated for the first time in many years in Logan county by a fusion ticket made up of disgruntled democrats and republicans.

Oscar Goriney, a blind candidate for police judge of Harrodsburg, won over John I. Vanarsdale by 48 votes.

Owen county voted in favor of the school amendments, but reports are meagre as yet as in most counties first reports were only of the county races.

The entire Democratic ticket lost in the election in Garrard county Tuesday, the Republicans electing their ticket by about 150 majority. J. E. Robinson for state senator, lost by about 100. The election was very hotly contested on both sides.

Reports from Louisville are that the republicans carried it by majorities of from 6,000 to 9,000.

Congressman's Serious Charge

Washington, Nov. 9.—Representative Johnson, republican, of South Dakota, a former army officer, declared in the House today while he had no substantiation of the charge, he had reason to believe that soldiers who were traitors, cowards, or mentally unfit, were shot by their own comrades while facing the enemy during the world war.

The Weather

Cloudy and colder Thursday; probably rain in east portion Thursday.

KILLING AT POOSEY ON ELECTION DAY

Quarrel Over Politics Leads To Tragedy—Slayer Surrenders—Trial Monday

Squire Williams was shot twice and killed at Poozey Tuesday by Lindsey Warner, as a result of an election quarrel. Warner came to town and gave himself up and has been kept under guard by Sheriff Whitlock. Williams is said to have been a republican and Warner a democrat. They are reported to have quarreled about politics and the killing followed. Details of the unfortunate affair will undoubtedly come out at the examining trial of Warner which has been set by County Judge W. K. Price for next Monday morning at 9 o'clock. Stories of the affair as told on the street by men from that section differ as to the details of the tragedy.

ROBINSON'S RACE DEPENDS ON CASEY

With three precincts in Casey county still not reported, indications were Wednesday morning that J. E. Robinson, of Garrard, democrat, had been defeated for State Senator by J. S. Haselden, republican. Robinson lost Garrard by about 100; carried Boyle by 800; Lincoln about 150, and Casey with the three precincts out, is said to have gone 1,000 for Haselden. Whether those three precincts will change the result is not known. With them out Robinson is said to be about 100 votes behind.

OHIO VOTES BIG SUM FOR SOLDIERS

Maryland Democrats Win Sweeping Victories and Big Gains. Are Made In New York

New York, Nov. 9.—One state, Kentucky, apparently has passed from republican to democratic control as a result of Tuesday's election.

In Maryland, where the entire lower house of the legislature and 13 of the 27 members of the senate were elected, the democrats are conceded control of both houses.

In Kentucky the democrats have a good majority in the lower house of the legislature, while control of the senate hinges on the result in the 34th and 18th districts.

In Cleveland former chief of police Fred Kohler, democrat, was elected mayor by about 4,000.

Samuel Lew Shank, republican, was chosen mayor by the largest majority ever given a candidate for that office in Indianapolis.

Mayor James Couzens was re-elected mayor of Detroit.

Ohio voted a bond issue of $25,000,000 for former service men, the total for each not to exceed $250.

In New York the democratic candidates headed by mayor Hyman, made a clean sweep of the principal city and county offices. Hyman's plurality is over 400,000, the largest ever given a democratic candidate for any office in that city. In New York, also, indications were the democrats gained 22 seats in the state assembly. In the same state in city campaigns, the democrats won in four republican strongholds—Albany, Syracuse, Yonkers and Oneota.

WOUNDED MAN TELLS OF ELECTION AFFRAY

Lexington, Nov. 9.—Three victims of the Breathitt county election battle at Clayhole precinct near Jackson were brought here early today for treatment. The men included Hiram Campbell, Fog Miller and Will Davis. Miller's condition is serious. The men said that the first reports that six men were killed were erroneous and that four men were killed outright and 12 wounded. Campbell, in a statement, today said the outbreak was due to an argument between Ed Combs and George Allen over the matter of an oth to be administered to Allen as inspector at the polls. He did not know who fired the first shot, but in a flash 20 men began shooting and 16 were killed or wounded.

SENATE HINGES ON MOUNTAIN DISTRICT

Joe Robinson Loses To Joe Haselden—Louisville Republicans Grab All The Offices

(By Associated Press)
Louisville, Ky., Nov. 9.—While Louisville gave a hearty majority for the republican ticket Tuesday, there was virtually a democratic landslide in the state. The Lower House of the state legislature which has been republican two years, on the face of the returns, will have 66 democrats and 34 republicans. The contest for control of the State Senate is up to the 34th district composed of Breathitt, Lee, Magoffin, Wolfe, and Morgan counties. The 18th district, which was in doubt last night, is conceded to the republicans on the face of the returns.

Democrats elected 19 Senators and republicans 18. For the first time in the history of Louisville republicans secured all offices in the city and county.

AMENDMENTS BEATEN HEAVILY IN MADISON

Madison county evidently does not think much of the effort to amend the state constitution in school matters, judging from the heavy majorities returned against the two amendments in the election Tuesday. No. 1, seeking to take election of the State Superintendent out of the hands of the people had a majority of 3,624 votes cast against it, while No. 2, seeking to permit the school authorities to divert 10 per cent of the school fund, was beaten by 3,350 in this county with two precincts not reported on the amendments. The vote by precincts is given on this page.

BROTHER SHOT FOR BURGLAR

Mr. Frank Knox, well known citizen of this city, was accidentally shot by his brother, Mr. Marion Knox. The two brothers had been hearing people prowling around the house for several nights. Mr. Frank Knox, the older of the two brothers, had stepped out for a few minutes. When he came in his brother thought it was a burglar and shot him. He was taken to the Patti A. Clay Infirmary this morning, and is doing nicely. They reside in the eastern part of the city.

"THE JUCKLINS" FINE SCREEN STORY

Have you ever read Optic Read's famous novel of Southern folk, "The Jucklins"? If you have, you will perhaps be pleased to see those sturdy characters visualized in George Melford's splendid Paramount production of "The Jucklins" which is being shown at the local theatres today.

Few changes have been made in the story, so that even vital scene of the novel will be found in the screen adaptation made by Frank Condon. He states that every character creation has been preserved, while the story itself unfolds on the screen exactly as it does in the story.

There are twenty important roles in the picture, and all have been developed by players capable of portraying each distinct type artistically. Monte Blue is seen as Bill Hawes, the fighting school master, while Guina Jucklin is portrayed by Mabel Juliane Scott.

S. M. SAUFLEY, Editor and Proprietor

Taken all in all it was a splendid lot of men that the voters of Madison county elected to conduct their affairs for the next four years. Of course, we democrats would have been better pleased if the entire ticket had been our friends the republicans, feel the same way about their ticket.

It was a hard fight but it's over now and the majorities are sufficient to prevent any after-dissatisfaction, and it won't be but a day or two until politics will be forgotten and the community life will move along smoothly again.

Politics is eschewed, the Daily Register as a Democratic newspaper, feels called upon to pay a slight meed of tribute to the remarkable campaign that the Democratic nominees waged, and to the loyal and energetic workers in every part of the county who made victory possible. And the chief of these was J. I. Greenleaf, county chairman. To his skill and indomitable zeal, his untiring energy, keen insight and proficiency as an organizer is due a large portion of the credit for the results achieved. He put the pep into the candidates and the workers constantly, and built up an organization, the like of which Madison county democracy has not known for a quarter of a century, so the old timers say. The thanks of every candidate and every Democrat are due to Jack Greenleaf. Our hat is off to him. It was a fortunate thing for Madison Democracy when he was named chairman of the county committee.

LOUISVILLE'S PLANS FOR ARMISTICE DAY

(By Associated Press) Louisville, Ky., Nov. 9.—As a memorial to the dead and a tribute to the living, a community observance of Armistice Day in honor of Jefferson Post of the American Legion will be held at Warren Memorial Church on the night of November 11 under the auspices of the "Citizens of Louisville."

"Louisville wishes to make a public profession of its gratitude and loyalty and we ask you to be present to receive it," says an invitation mailed to each member of Jefferson Post.

An elaborate and impressive program has been arranged for the occasion.

Beginning at 7:15 o'clock, when the doors are to be opened, there will be an organ recital of war music. This will be followed by the singing of the National anthem, "America, the Beautiful."

Introductory remarks for the committee in charge will be made by Dr. Samuel Callen, a former army chaplain. J. Blakeley Helm, adjutant of Jefferson Post, will respond for the Legion and Brig. General Dwight E. Aultman, commander of Camp Henry Knox, will respond for the army.

The "Commemoration Ode, A. D. 1919" will be sung by a specially trained chorus or some of the best voices in the city, under the personal direction of Carl Shackleton. The concluding lines of the ode are:

"Therefore, with banners burning, dressed in honor to those returning, honour to those at rest."

The second part of the program is the Commemoration Pageant. This is divided into two parts, a military procession and a symbolic procession. The military procession will be headed by a special detail of soldiers from Camp Henry Knox, each bearing the flag of one of the allies.

The symbolic procession will be in the name of Louisville women who served in 1914 to 1920 and will be composed of twenty-one women whose identity will not be disclosed.

At the conclusion of the second procession the "Battle Hymn of the Republic" will be sung.

Then for one minute the audience is asked to sit silent.

Taps, sounded from high in the dome of the church by an army bugler from Camp Henry Knox will conclude the program.

BUSINESS WOMAN WAS DISTRESSED

Mrs. Castle of Huntington, Never Expected To Be Well Again

"My gratitude to Tanlac for making me well and strong again is just beyond my power of words to express," said Mrs. Mae M. Castle, 323 18th street, Huntington, W. Va., who owns and manages a large grocery store and meat market.

"I had no idea a medicine could do so much for a person as Tanlac has done for me. For a long time I had been in failing health. My appetite was poor and later almost every meal I had severe attacks of indigestion. I never knew what it was to get a good night's sleep and was losing weight and strength every day."

"I appreciate what Tanlac has done for me, as I never expected to be well and strong again, but I can truthfully say that I am now in perfect health and feeling younger and stronger than in years."

Tanlac is sold in Richmond by Stockton and Son, and leading druggists.

NORMAL LYCEUM OPENS FRIDAY NIGHT

The annual Lyceum Course of the Normal school, opens Friday night with Pitt Parker, the "Crayon Artist," as the attraction. Mr. Parker is not only a cartoonist but a clay modeler and a humorist. His program should be highly entertaining. Here is what he says about himself:

"I have been present at every performance given by Mr. Parker during the past twelve years, and at many previous to that time. To say that I took the keenest delight in them all would hardly be true. Speaking frankly, I have never attended one of his performances without going away thinking I could do much better, and frequently I have succeeded in doing it. I may be a trifle critical but I have seen him with crayon in hand before a refined and intelligent audience make a mark, follow a remark, and then proceed to rub it in."

"He seems confined to no particular line, for he draws all conceivable kinds, leaving it to the audience to draw conclusions. Some might think his work rather superficial because so much of it appears only on the surface, yet the large number of towns in which he has appeared but once proves that his work is not forgotten. Possibly he shows the best form in his clay modeling in which he features clay features."

"Personally, I am quite fond of Mr. Parker and anticipate the pleasure of being present at many more entertainments given by him."

She Knows After 20 Years

Mrs. Milton Waite, Box 22, Azalia, Mich., writes: "I have used Foley's Honey and Tar for the past 20 years and find there is no other cough or croup remedy like it." Stories of Great Scouts

By Elmo
Scott
Watson

"JOHNNY APPLESEED" SCOUT WHO PLANTED ORCHARDS

Not all of the great scouts were Indian fighters. In contrast to the career of Lewis Wetzel, who was something of a professional Indian killer, is the life of John Chapman or "Johnny Appleseed." Chapman never killed an Indian in his life, but he probably saved as many white men from death at their hands as Wetzel did.

Chapman first appeared on the Ohio frontier in 1800. He came floating down the Ohio river in a canoe, towing another, and both boats were loaded with apple seeds from the elder mills of Pennsylvania. His purpose was to plant the seeds in the wilderness so that orchards would be started for the settlers when they arrived there to make their homes.

For the next 30 years he went everywhere up and down the Ohio country, planting seeds, going from one orchard to another, pruning and caring for the young trees. He was a welcome visitor in the log cabins of the settlers for he always carried a Bible and some books from which he would read and preach to them before the blazing fireplaces in the evening.

Johnny practiced his teachings of humility and kindness. He never killed anything for food. He carried a tin of cooking utensils, including a mush pan, which he sometimes wore as a hat. Usually he wore a broad-brimmed black hat, but a coffee sack with armbands cut in it was his only coat.

White men called him "quaker," for he often went barefoot in winter as well as in summer, but the Indians said, "He has been touched by the Great Spirit." He went everywhere among them unharmed, for the fact that Johnny never carried a gun convinced them that he was under the special protection of the Manitou.

During the War of 1812 when the British were overrunning the Ohio country, Johnny Appleseed performed his greatest service for his people. In his wanderings among the tribes he often learned of their plans for attacks on the settlements. Where no other white man could have gone, Johnny passed in safety and more than once he carried warnings to the settlers, giving them time to prepare for defense before the red invaders swept down upon them.

All this time Johnny Appleseed was carrying out his cherished dream of making Ohio bloom with fruit trees and many of the finest orchards in that state today owe their beginnings to this strange man. In his later years Johnny left the country which he had helped beautify and went to live with a relative in Fort Wayne, Ind. He died in 1847.

WHAT EVERYONE KNOWS

One of the things that every woman knows is the adaptability of the separate skirt of plain black satin. With one of these and with blouses for dress or semi-dress affairs, to be worn with the average woman can look the coming winter in the face with a mind at rest. The skirt pictured is adorned with a long row of small satin-covered buttons and loops.

Mary had a little lamb, but that was in the distant past. Now she has a little fox—for everywhere that Fashion goes the fox is sure to go. Fox scarfs have proved themselves the most beloved of furs, and they are unversally worn. There is a considerable range of color in them and a very great range of prices. In any case the fur is soft, silky and becoming.

The Efficient Woman

We hear a great deal nowadays about the efficiency of women. In the novels of fifty years ago, you never heard a woman praised for her executive ability, force and energy, in the sense that it is used today. The frail, delicate, helpless ideal of womanhood has passed away. How is it possible to measure up to the ideals of modern womanhood? In the first place, we must keep our bodies in the best possible condition.

Thousands of women have succeeded through daily baths, exercise in the fresh air, and L. J. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at the first sign of female weakness.

Kentuckian Slain for Legacy, Relatives Fear

Covington, Nov. 9.—Relatives of John Thorp, 55, reported to the police that they believed Thorp, who had been missing since October 27, was lured to Cleveland by an acquaintance, induced to collect a $2,000 legacy and murdered. John Donaldson, brother-in-law, said that the missing man's brother, Charles Thorp, died in Cleveland 6 months ago and left the bequest of $2,000. Covington police have requested the police of Cleveland to look for a man who had roomed with Thorp.

Elimination of the Russian demand has seriously injured the British tea trade.

JILLSON TELLS HISTORY OF COAL IN STATE

(By Associated Press)

Louisville, Nov. 9.—Coal was first discovered and used by white men in Kentucky in 1750 and its use and production has steadily increased during most of the intervening 170 years. Dr. Willard Rouse Jillson, director and geologist of the Kentucky Geological Survey, asserted here last night in reading a history of the coal industry in Kentucky before the Filson Club. That the Indians and their forebears undoubtedly knew of coal although there is no record of their having burned it, Dr. Jillson asserted.

Dr. Thomas Walker, credited with being the first white man to traverse the Wilderness and whose survey was the basis on which the boundary line between Kentucky and Tennessee was finally determined, was the first white man to find and use coal and record the fact in Kentucky. Dr. Walker's diary, published by the Filson Club, and which was quoted by Dr. Jillson, shows an entry on April 13, 1750, wherein Walker mentions the finding of large lumps of coal in Cumberland Gap, then called Cave Gap, and its use for camp fires. His diary, according to Dr. Jillson, shows frequent mention of coal thereafter.

Christopher Gist, who entered Kentucky in the spring of 1751, mentioned the finding of coal in the eastern part of Kentucky and on May 17, 1751, his diary shows that he took samples to his employers, the Ohio Land Company of Maryland.

Dr. Jillson, after giving credit to the Indians for first seeing and using coal, largely for the carving of ornaments, expressed the opinion that it was strange that they did not discover burning properties, inasmuch as they were always putting stones into fires for cooking purposes. The Indians of the southwest, he said, used coal for firing pottery.

He then dealt with the formation period in which he said the newly formed land was covered with forest growths and then by a seismic disturbance was again lowered into the sea where it was turned into a very soft formation that later solidified into coal.

The earliest known white man to pass the Kentucky coal fields was LaSalle according to Dr. Jillson. He did not, however, apparently, discover coal during his trip down the Ohio from the mouth of the Allegheny in 1669-70, nor did other explorers who touched on the borders of the state between 1643 and 1700.

"The exact date of the starting of production of coal for intra-state transport is uncertain," Dr. Jillson said, "but it is certain that the extent of the coal fields and many of the best veins were known in 1810."

In 1820 William D. McLean opened a mine on Green River, the first commercial operation in the Western Kentucky fields. Production for sale in 1828 was 328 short tons. Prior to this coal seems to have figured little in the calculations of writers and explorers, he says, as Filson in his book published in 1785 fails to mention it. Mining, however, had been spasmodically carried on from 1792 and during the latter part of the eighteenth century coal from Kentucky was used to forge iron smelted in the first iron furnace west of the Alleghenies—which was founded at Owingsville.

Since 1828 the coal production of the state has grown steadily with a brief halt after and during the civil war when production fell from more than 250,000 tons to approximately 150,000 tons. It regained the impetus, however, after the civil war, although the development was comparatively slow until 1913 when railroads were extended to the headquarters of the mountain streams and the production grew in leaps and bounds. The total production of the state as recorded from 1828 to 1920 inclusive was 403,533,381 tons, he said. Of this 215,023,557 tons were produced during the years 1913 to 1920 inclusive and only 188,512,024 tons prior to 1913. The production from 1918 to 1920 inclusive was 100,457,542 tons valued at $327,938,975.

The first legislation affecting the coal industry was the creation of the Kentucky Geological Survey in 1854, while in 1884 the office of mine inspector was created and in 1886 a law was passed requiring mines having twenty employees or more, where the majority wanted it, to have a check weighman appointed by the employees. In 1887 the law requiring regulated ventilation was passed and in 1898 a bill was passed requiring mine owners to pay their men before the sixteenth of the month following that in which service was rendered. In 1902 the age limit of child labor was set at 14 years and in 1906 was raised to 16 years and in 1908 but was passed making foremen stand an examination before the state mine inspector.

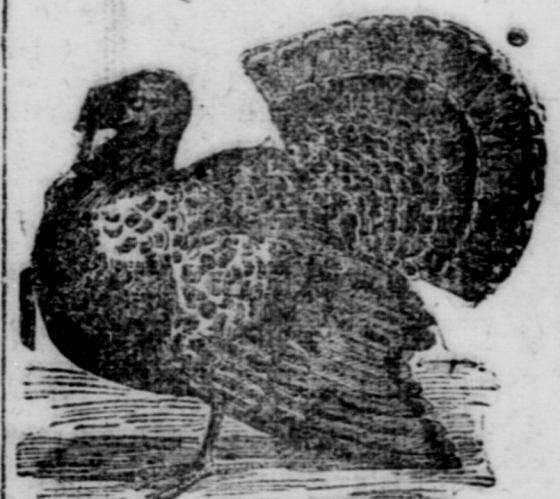

The eastern coal field first passed the western in production in 1912 at which time Hopkins county led the state. In 1913 Muhlenburg, another western county, became first but recently Pike county and a number of eastern Kentucky counties have passed the western counties.

ANOTHER BIG OFFER IS COMING SOON

Workers In Subscription Campaign Are Mighty Busy—
Just Look At Standing

We are today again publishing

the standing of the candidates in the Daily Register's big subscription campaign, and from this list you can see that we have some real workers who are devoting their time and attention to this, and are getting results.

In the last week about ten candidates have forged to the front and there are now some 15 or 20 candidates who are running neck and neck, as all of them have increased their votes wonderfully, and it is a horse race between them, as their vote this week is almost double that of last week, and each day they are coming in with subscriptions and adding on to their votes.

Tomorrow (Thursday) is the last day in the Cash Event, and all candidates are asked to have all subscriptions into this office not later than 5 o'clock p. m., so that all votes and cash subscriptions can be counted and prizes awarded the winners in this event promptly and the winners announced in Friday's paper. The prizes will be given on Saturday. The Daily Register is going to offer you another Event beginning the first of next week, as we are going to make it interesting to you for your noble efforts in this campaign, as the harder you work the more encouragement we are going to give you until the end.

Remember you have just one month left in which to win these Grand Prizes, and from now on you can earn more than $250 a week with hard work, but remember there are several workers who are very close together and are changing places each few days. Now is the time to get the lead on your competitors. See all your friends and get the subscriptions they have promised you and ask them to renew for five or ten years, as this will give you a big lead say, ten subscribers for ten years each. With a good lead now, you will be hard to overtake in the latter part of the campaign. Below is the standing of the candidates today.
